Personally appeared before me, the undersigned, [Select one] ☒ X Commissioner ☐ Metropolitan General Sessions Judge, the prosecutor named above and made oath in due form of law that [Select one] ☐ he ☒ X she [Select one] ☐ personally observed ☒ X has probable cause to believe that the defendant named above on 05/25/2026 in Davidson County, did unlawfully remove merchandise with the intent to sell it for profit and that the probable cause is as follows:

On May 25th, 2026, Makiya Givans, Dasha Hall, and an unidentified female entered the Lululemon on 12th Ave S in Nashville. Lululemon Organized Retail Crime Investigators provided detectives with security footage of this theft as well as an inventory of items taken.

Video shows Ms. Givans, Ms. Hall, and the other woman enter the store and immediately go to the "Sales Wall 3" camera. The three are seen lifting a large amount of merchandise off of the racks, which included twenty-four pairs of women's shorts valued at $68.00 each, twelve skirts valued at $78.00 each, four pairs of shorts valued at $88.00 each, six windbreakers valued at $168.00 each, and thirty-nine Define zip-up jackets valued at $128.00 each (total value: $8,920.00). The group then walked right back out the door less than one minute later getting into a vehicle owned and driven during this incident by Rickyia Darvin.

Inside two of the Define zip-up jackets were GPS trackers, which activate when removed from the store. Employees at Lululemon are trained to remove these upon legal purchase of the item at the register so that the trackers are not removed from the store. Each tracker costs $250.00 to replace, an additional loss of $500.00 to the company.

Detectives are very familiar with Makiya Givans from several recent shoplifting events across Davidson County and recognized her on the provided footage. She was wearing the same sweatshirt she has also worn in several thefts over the last few months. Detectives were able to follow the GPS tracker to an apartment, where MDHA cameras showed Ms. Givans, Ms. Hall, Ms. Darvin, and the unidentified woman without a face covering walking the merchandise from the vehicle into an apartment. Detectives compared all of this footage to social media accounts, Tennessee driver's license, and most recent DCSO booking photo to confirm identifications for Ms. Givans, Ms. Hall, and Ms. Darvin.

Within two hours of this theft, Ms. Givans began to post the merchandise, clearly displaying security sensors, price tags, and hangers, for sale on her Instagram page. This account is known to belong to Ms. Givans, and all posts were saved for evidentiary purposes. Those same photos were posted showing merchandise for sale in several Facebook groups known for the resale of stolen goods by Nicole Pitt, whose apartment the merchandise was brought to immediately following the theft by Givans, Darvin, Hall and the unidentified individual.
